Dr. Russ Ouellette, D.M.

Dr. Russ Ouellette is a recognized expert in high performance coaching, executive leadership and organizational development. His ability to combine knowledge, experience and human connection allows for absolute reach and application of client motivation towards productive action. His diverse professional and executive coaching practice over the past 26 years informs and provides him with vast knowledge of human and business solutions among professional workers. In addition, his perspective is solidly in the future of organizational and business practices, allowing his clients the advantage of contemporary critical business and organizational thinking.

In addition to his client leadership development work, Dr. Ouellette is a passionate speaker and advocate for contemporary open system organizational thinking. Through his careful assessment of organizational environmental situations, culture, worker psychology, social systems and strategy, he can design organizational systems that fit a client's inherently unique situation. His ability to draw from diverse industries and organizational functional experience places him directly in the client situation. He understands the needs of the executive client, and can apply cutting edge theory and emotional intelligence to develop sustainable organizational solutions.

Dr. Ouellette's research on social relationships within organizational settings is contemporary and ground breaking. His theory that stronger professional social relationships provide organizational benefit led to the finding that networking behavior is instinctual. His findings directly support current organizational thinking that open, empowered, and self-directing professionals will provide the next level of business productivity. In addition to his professional publications, Russ also speaks to leadership groups about how to develop and mine organizational and professional networks for results.
